

*From Agincourt to Waterloo:
English and French Choral Music*

Sunday, 20 September, 5:15pm

The Chapel, Charterhouse

Matthew Altham, Director

Admission free (retiring collection)

Pegasus, one of London's most acclaimed chamber choirs, commemorates the 600th anniversary of the Battle of Agincourt with a free, hour-long recital. The concert includes beautiful and rarely heard works composed during the century after that historic encounter between the English and French armies.

This performance is part of the Open House London weekend.
Come early to see the Chapel, and stay for the concert!